Grear to face Bythwood in city election

BELLE GLADE - Two incumbent city commissioners have won re-election by default while a third will be facing opposition from a local school district employee in the Belle Glade municipal election September 13.

North borough commissioner Claude A. Tindall will be reinstated in his seat for a fourth consecutive term. The 72-year-old retiree is currently serving as vice-mayor on the five-member commission. The east borough commissioner has also been returned to office for lack of opposition.

George L. Goforth, Jr., 46, will step into his second term after the election process draws to a close.

The west borough is the scene of the only race in city politics for two years as Commissioner William A. Grear, 59, will be running against challenger Daniel Bythwood, 54.

At the time he filed his qualifying papers, Grear said he is concerned with seeing the city grow and progress. He also specifically mentioned the annexation of the Okeechobee housing project just south of the city as a problem the city will have to deal with in the near future.

Grear is running for his sixth term. He was mayor in

Bythwood is making his third run for a seat on the commission. Both of his previous attempts were unsuccessful.

Bythwood said he thinks he's needed in the west borough because he can communicate with the people of Belle Glade help them solve their problems.

Water rates to go up nine percent in fall

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade water rates will increase nine percent in October as a result of a water and sewer budget the city commission gave its tentative approval to last week.

According to city Finance Director Frank Anderson, the minimum water bill will increase by 56 cents from $6.20 to $6.76. The sewage rates won't increase, but the utility bills will also include an increased mosquito control fee.

The mosquito control fee will go up to one dollar, an increase of 30 cents over last year's rate.

City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang told the city commissioners several weeks ago when they first looked at the water and sewer budget that he was anticipating an 18 percent water rate increase.

That increase was halved by cutting items in the budget.

Capital outlay's suffered the brunt of the damage from the budget cutting ax.

In the original proposal, $112,100 was requested for capital purchases in the water system. When the administration came back with the final proposal, that figure had been chopped to $51,400. A proposed capital outlay of $2,925 in the water treatment plant was entirely eliminated.

In the sewer system, the original budget proposal included a capital expenditure of $188,800. That was trimmed to $73,100 in the final budget.

The city is charging $1.35 per 1,000 gallons of water. That rate will increase to $1.47 in October when the new rates go into effect.

Anderson said the new water plant will be in operation for four months of the 1983-1984 fiscal year, and that the sewer plant is expected to come on line in the next fiscal year.

Commissioner William A. Grear asked if it was possible to use revenue sharing funds in the water and sewer budget and was told the city doesn't make a practice of it even though it was legally permissible.

"It's better to make an enterprise fund really pay its own way instead of subsidizing it," said Anderson. "If we didn't need it (revenue sharing funds) all over there (in the general fund), I'd say sure, let's use it."

The city is obligated by its bond resolutions to charge a high enough rate to meet all the water and sewer system's expenses and debt service requirements.

GGH may cut GAS funding

BELLE GLADE - Claiming the hospital is under no legal obligation to provide ambulance service, the directors at Glades General Hospital have announced their intentions not to fund the ambulance service starting October 1.

The county commission has been informed of the planned action and asked to provide alternative funding for the service.

In a letter to Palm Beach County Commissioner Bill J. Bailey, Glades General Administrator Patrick A. Lennon explained why the hospital had to discontinue funding for the service.

"The hospital has attempted to pay for the service from hospital revenues and a portion of the operating taxes that should be used for hospital operation," stated Lennon in the letter. "New Medicare regulations will seriously affect our financial ability to continue to operate the service. The county social services program and Medicaid pay very little if any for ambulance services. The hospital cannot continue to finance the service in the present manner as it will jeopardize our ability to continue to provide hospital services to patients."

Lennon added that the hospital isn't legally obligated to provide the service and asked the county to "make arrangements for some alternative method of financing and delivering ambulance services in southwestern Palm Beach County."

He estimated the savings for the hospital to be half a million dollars.

"It will be necessary for us to terminate the ambulance service at midnight, September 30, 1983. We sincerely regret having to take this action, however the savings of nearly $500,000 per year will permit us to live within our budget and provide the hospital services we are required to provide."

This is the second time in four years that the ambulance service and who provides it has become an issue.

Escape a first for jail, but not for one county inmate

BELLE GLADE - The short-lived escape from the Palm Beach County Jail north of Belle Glade is a first for the new facility but just the latest in a series for one of the escapees.

According to Detective Steve Haller of the Glades sub-station of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department, three jail inmates, a Belle Glade woman and two juveniles have been charged with the August 25 escape. All three inmates and their three alleged accomplices were rounded up shortly after the break-out.

One of the inmates police charged in the break-out was in the facility because of an escape he had made earlier this summer from Glades Correctional Institute. The inmate, Curtis Horne of Brooklyn, New York, had also escaped from the Department of Corrections processing center in Lake Butler after his conviction for a West Palm Beach armed robbery a year ago.

According to Haller, Horne, 25, is now charged with a second escape and has been returned to jail under $50,000 bond.

Two other inmates have been charged with escape and returned to jail under $25,000 bond.

They are Daniel C. Modberry, 22, of West Palm Beach and Johnny L. Abernathy, 20, also of West Palm Beach.

A Belle Glade woman, Willie Mae Jones, 32, of 208 SW Sixth Street in Belle Glade, has been charged with three counts of aiding in a prisoner escape. Two Belle Glade youths, both of them 16-years old, have also been charged with three counts each of aiding in a prisoner escape.

Jones is under $50,000 bond.

Haller said the sheriff's office was informed at about 3:30 Thursday afternoon, August 25, that Jones was attempting to rent an automobile for a short period of time for $200.

The department then put Jones under surveillance and observed her put the torch and tanks in her car.

She left her car and approached it at about 8:50 p.m. with the two juveniles.

Haller said police followed the three as they drove to the Health and Rehabilitative Services building located beside the jail and the sheriff's building.

Haller said that at the time, he thought the three may be planning to break-in to the HRS building and steal food stamps or other items from the safe.

Instead the three took the tanks from the car and carried them behind the jail.

They moved the torch and tanks under the fence and to the jail yard and Jones also entered the yard.

A prisoner from cell number three on the second floor lowered a homemade rope to Jones who attached it to the torch. The prisoners then pulled the torch up to the window and used it to cut through the window. They then jumped to the ground.

The officers observing the escape closed in after all three had left the jail. One of the three, Abernathy, was apprehended in the jail yard when his foot caught on a fence.

Horne and Jones were caught at the automobile in the HRS parking lot and Modberry was caught on Airport Road about one mile east of Prewitt Village.

The two juveniles were apprehended just south of the jail in a field.

Haller's report stated that Jones said she wanted to get Horne out of prison in order to go to the Carolinas with him.

Acree, Faulkner announce

BELLE GLADE — The engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Doris Ann to Marty Dwain Faulkner is announced by W.H. and Florence Acree, Jr. of Belle Glade.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of W.H. and Amelia Acree, Sr., former residents of Belle Glade, now residing in Naples, Florida and the late Hubie and Laura Boree.

Miss Acree graduated from Christian Day School in 1978 and attended Georgia Southern College. She is employed as manager of the two Kentucky Fried Chicken outlets in Belle Glade.

The groom-elect is the son of Forrest and Jackie Faulkner of Ozark, Alabama. He graduated from Carroll High School in Ozark in 1978 and served three years in the U.S.

Army. He is the nephew of Herman and Mildred Goodson of South Bay and is employed with Coastal States Insurance Company in Belle Glade.

Santiago

Santiago, Rodriguez will wed this Saturday

BELLE GLADE — Manuel and Elsa Santiago of Belle Glade announce the engagement and upcoming wedding of their daughter Jacqueline to Dionicio Rodriguez, Jr., son of Dionicio Rodriguez, Sr. of Loxahatchee.

The bride-elect graduated from Glades Central High School in 1983. The groom-elect graduated from Glades Central High School in 1979. He is employed as assistant manager at the Winn Dixie Store in Belle Glade.

The wedding is scheduled for this Saturday, September 3 at the St. Phillips Beni Catholic Church in Belle Glade. A reception will follow at the Belle Glade Municipal Civic Center.

Sweet Adelines to start fall season at center

BELLE GLADE — The schedule for the fall series of events for the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center was announced this week by Judy Schiele, director.

The season will kick off this year with the return of the Sweet Adelines and the Coastmen Chorus of West Palm Beach, September 24 at 8 p.m.

The award winning groups will feature a musical performance of four-part harmony, barbershop style including current top tunes as well as past favorites. General admission is $8.

The United States Marine Band, under the direction of Colonel John R. Bourgeois, will be given October 25 at 8 p.m. The band was originally led by John Philip Sousa and has performed for every presidential inauguration since its inception. Oliver, a full costumed, musical production, will appear November 19 at 8 p.m. This play is based on the Dickens classic, Oliver Twist and is presented by the Florida Artists Management of Jacksonville.

A return performance is scheduled for the members of the children's theatre of the Royal Poinciana Community College, will be given November 27, "All the Things We Are", is an original musical written by Lois Biddix. General admission tickets are $3.

A Christmas program presented by the music department of the Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church will be presented December 10 at 8 p.m. It is under the direction of Roger McMurrin. General admission, $7.

In early January the Royal Jamaican Constabulary Band will perform. It is in conjunction with the sugar industry and an exact date will be announced at a later time. Tickets are $2.

The Nostalgia Follies, sponsored by the Indian River Community College, will be given January 20 at 8 p.m.

The cast consists of 45 senior adults who do their own choreography, costumes and production. The two hour program will feature songs of the Roaring 20's, Broadway tunes and skits. Admission, $5.

Schiele said that anyone who cares to help support the cultural arts programs at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center may make a tax deductible donation of $100 to the foundation.

She said that organizations and individuals who become "Friends of the Theater" will receive first choice of up to four reserved seats for each performance at the center. She stressed that tickets for the performances would still need to be purchased separately.

Seating reservations will be open to all series ticket holders holders September 1. They are available in the registrar's office at Palm Beach Junior College, Glades Campus.

Schiele said previous series ticket holders who wish to retain their same seats may call to reserve them for the fall season, but new seat selections must be made in person.

You can call the college at 996-3055 for more information.

Sugar film premieres tonight at PBJC

BELLE GLADE — The Florida Sugar Cane League will present the new sugar industry film "Everglades Harvest" at a free premiere tonight at 8 p.m. in the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center in Belle Glade.

The spirit of the Glades people, those who live and work in the sugar producing area, is captured in this 28-minute feature film, "according to a league spokesperson."

Local residents express their views in the film. Wayne Beardsley, a descendant of a pioneer sugarcane grower family and Joe Marlin Hilliard, a local sugar cane grower, discuss the growing and harvesting of sugarcane.

Art Kirstein, past president of the Florida Sugar Cane League, and Alberto Recio, executive at a local sugar mill, provide an overview of the industry and the changes that have occurred. Roland Martin, a Clewiston fisherman, is filmed fishing on Lake Okeechobee while expressing his views on the lake.

Walter Schlechter, a survivor of the 1928 hurricane, explains the tragedy that hit the area 55 years ago.

"Everglades Harvest" is the second industry film produced by the Florida Sugar Cane League. The first film, "Sugar Country," was produced 10 years ago and featured William Shatner of "Star Trek" fame. Using the local residents and industry spokesmen format, "Everglades Harvest" was produced to showcase the sugar industry and

A pinch of salt

By REV. ROBERT W. CARLSON

Labor Day weekend is a time all Americans look forward to. The holiday always falls on a Monday, so most workers have three days to relax (or work around the house).

As a pastor, though, I don't relish this weekend because traditionally so many church members play hooky on that first Sunday of September.

Of all times to skip church! Don't people realize that if it weren't for the church there would be no Labor Day? About now you're saying, "Hey, preacher, Labor Day isn't a religious holiday." If you'll follow me for just a few more paragraphs, I'll explain to you where the church fits in.

Many of the great institutions and social reforms we now take for granted in this country were born out of religious revival. Several Ivy League universities and well known seminaries were established in the 18th century as a direct result of the Great Awakening.

Later in American history revival fires cleared the way for reforms in prisons, mental hospitals and child labor. The Red Cross and the YMCA were begun by men whose hearts had been transformed by the Spirit of God.

Even the labor movement owes much of its progress to the moral climate brought about by spiritual revival. So, Labor Day may not be a religious holiday, but you wouldn't have the day off if it were not for Heaven sent revival and the faithfulness of the church.

Attend church this weekend, and thank God for the freedoms you enjoy and the social conditions that make life a little easier than they were before the great American revivals.

Medical emergencies?

We can't live without ambulance service, no matter who pays

Glades General Hospital administrator Patrick Lennon has informed the county that the hospital will be forced to put the brakes on the ambulance service it provides starting October 1.

If the hospital goes through with the administrator's announced intention to terminate the funding for the ambulance service, and Palm Beach County doesn't come through with the cash to keep the service going, the southwest end of Palm Beach County could be without ambulance service early this fall.

That's a service we can ill afford to lose. By its very nature, we never know how important the service actually is until we need it and it isn't there.

We understand Lennon's point of view. The hospital is under no legal obligation to provide the service, but it has done so anyway for the past several years.

It gets no reimbursement from the county and very little from Medicare for providing such a vital service.

The service is being provided at the hospital's expense, and fiscal realities are threatening to catch up with the hospital.

It cannot afford to provide the services and still offer all the services the hospital is supposed to provide.

Likewise, the residents of the southwest end of the county cannot afford to be without an ambulance service. Something has to give.

We don't know the solution, but we hope funds are provided somewhere to keep an ambulance service operating in the Belle Glade-South Bay area.

We can't live without it.

Hospitals should realize obligation to treat the indigent

Two groups are considering building hospitals in the Wellington-Loxahatchee area of Palm Beach County and the prospect of having one or more for-profit hospital operating in such a close proximity to the Glades has Glades General Hospital Administrator Patrick Lennon concerned.

Lennon says a for-profit hospital could draw away local patients that afford to pay their own way, leaving the local hospital with nothing but charity and poverty cases.

That could spell financial ruin for the two hospitals in the Glades.

Glades General and Everglades Memorial hospitals are tax-supported and must take in poverty cases.

Seventy-five percent of the patients in Glades General are cared for at cost or for charity.

If the few paying customers the hospital now attracts are pulled instead to another profit-making hospital, the hospital will find a good part of its funds cut off.

That could doom the hospitals and force them to close their doors.

That would cause another problem.

If profit-making hospitals aren't obligated to care for charity patients, who will?

We agree with Lennon that any group that seeks to open another hospital should realize a moral, if not legal, obligation to the poor before it is allowed to build.

Separating golden from greasy spoons

Some people have a real knack for finding simply marvelous little restaurants everywhere they go. Stranded in Antarctica at two in the morning, they'd stumble on the best little French bistro they'd ever eaten in. Even if I managed to find the iceberg it was on, I'd get there the one day of the week it's closed.

Friends tell me that on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf, I couldn't miss — all the eating places are superb. Maybe so, but I can bet I'd get a waitress who was feuding with the cook and all her customers were being held hostage until closing time.

Some of the knowing ones swear by smorgasboards but buffet serving baffles me. How much should I tip a waiter who brings me a glass of water and points me toward the steam table so I can spill my own soup?

There are two kinds of restaurants I can always trust though: Italian and Chinese. I know that whatever I order in Mama Mia's will be pasta smothered in tomato sauce. I only need to decide whether I want my pasta by the yard, or in shells, squares, or slabs. And ordering in Chinese is a snap for me. Twelve years ago I ate something foo yung and liked it. Not wanting to trifle with success, I've been a foo yung fan ever since. I might not like something made out of moo goo or saipans. In fact, the only time I tried ordering what I thought was a Chinese dessert, it turned out to be "Watch your hat and coat" in Mandarin.

Truck stops. "You can always depend on truck stops with full parking lots," is another piece of advice to be wary of. Especially if you get inside and don't find any trucks. Sometimes the waitresses have a sideline that doesn't include waiting on tables.

In my travels, I have learned a few guidelines for separating the golden spoons from the greasy spoons. Check out the restroom. If there's a sign over the sink that reads, "Employees must wash their hands" after you-know-what, exit fast. If you stop at a roadside diner and all the locals are drinking beer, they know something you don't want to find out. Flyspecks on the menu spell out a word to the wise in code.

It's because of people like me that the fast food chains are a success. The food may taste prefabricated at Hamburger Hotline but at least there's no ambulance idling in the parking lot with lights flashing, and the stomach pump revved up. Chicken Quick may ooze with schmalz but you've no reason to suspect the chicken succumbed to a long and lingering undiagnosed illness.

"And What Not"

That doesn't mean I won't still be enticed by the Kozy Kitchen with the ruffled curtains and checkered table cloths. A place where Monday's leftovers are fricasseed on Tuesday, on casserole on Wednesday, and chowdered on Thursday, and even the waitresses brownbag it. But if the blueplate special seems to have an energy source of its own, I can always heed my Grandma's advice: When in doubt, order a cheese sandwich.

Hints from Mr. Fix-it

Anytime I get out the screw drivers and wrenches and tear something apart, I always get the business from my wife.

"What are you fixing now?" she'll ask, confident that whatever I'm fixing will be worse off than before.

I had my tape recorder completely apart the other day and then got it all back together except for one ball bearing. Still can't figure where that thing came from. But it plays just as bad as before, so I figure I didn't do that much damage.

Even though my wife has no confidence in my fix-it ability, I've fearlessly dug into lots of things, like the mini-disk terminals here at the office and flash strobes. Some have even worked after I have finished with them.

Boiler Plate

I have even been known to butcher a piece of wood too, though I prefer to let my son handle that chore. The kid needs to learn how to saw, nail, and stain.

Since I occasionally call upon him to hammer and saw something, he must assume that I already know how to do what I'm asking him to do. That's an old trick they teach army officers.

Besides, he wants to be an engineer. It doesn't hurt to get your hands dirty, solving practical problems. If, saving a straight line isn't an engineering problem, what is? If you don't know, you haven't tried to saw a straight line recently.

I hate to admit it, but I seldom fix anything without a lot of agony and gnashing of teeth. I have even been known to utter a bad word or two when things weren't going exactly right.

You can understand the pleasure I took this weekend when I wandered into the pressbox and found a band of boosters hard at work, sawing, drilling, and sweating.

They dared me to quote them, when things didn't go smoothly, knowing full well that what we have here is a family newspaper.

I understand that sometimes little expletives seem to make the work go easier.

Fellows, what can I say if you didn't get the wall openings just right and now the windows won't wind shut? I know how you feel. You should have had your sons do the job for you.

service from Terry Moss for economic reasons. Hospital officials said at that time that it was more economical to operate the service as part of the hospital than to pay Moss to operate it.

The hospital is seeking to drop the service from its budget now for economic reasons also.

Lennon said Medicare will only pay for specific hospital procedures and its payment is derived from the average cost of those procedures at all the hospitals that provide those services.

Most hospitals don't operate their own ambulance service, so those costs don't figure in the Medicare benefits paid to the hospital.

The hospital has incurred the expense of operating the service but doesn't get reimbursed for it through Medicare.

Lennon said the county also doesn't reimburse the hospital for carrying county residents in the ambulance.

"We don't receive any reimbursement from the county for carrying county patients," said Lennon. "So what we are in essence saying is, 'It's your responsibility to go ahead and run it.'"

Lennon said that several county officials were scheduled to meet with him at the hospital Wednesday to discuss the situation.

Election

concern him most.

The at-large seats are held by Mayor Thomas L. Altman and Commissioner Charles Goodlett.

The three borough seats are decided in odd-numbered years.

This will be the first election in the southwest section of town in the city since 1981.

Last year, the at-large commissioners failed to muster any opposition so they were returned without a ballot.

Although candidates must establish a legal residence in the borough they are running in during the borough campaigns, voters from all sections of the city cast ballots in the elections.

Birthing clinic work planned soon

BELLE GLADE - The birthing clinic at Glades General Hospital, two and a half years in the planning, may soon be constructed, according to the director of the organization that will be in charge of the facility.

"It's been long overdue and we're glad it's underway," said Fred Diaz, the executive director of Florida Community Health Centers, which is constructing the facility and staffing it.

The birthing clinic is going to be constructed in the Memorial Wing of the hospital with about a quarter of a million dollars in federal grant money from the Department of Health and Human Services' migrant program.

Diaz said the wing, which is currently being used as a maintenance and storage area by the hospital, will be gutted and refurbished inside and out.

The hospital is currently evacuating the wing, he said.

Diaz said the center is going out for bids on the contract and he hopes to have the contract awarded by the end of September.

Once completed, the facility will include four birthing rooms, diagnostic and treatment rooms, an examining room, a small kitchenette and utility area, a large conference room and two staff areas for employees on 24 hour call.

Florida Community Health Centers will be staffing the facility when it is in operation, according to Diaz.

Plans call for it to include two obstetricians and three pediatricians. The center currently employs five midwives but Diaz said he hopes to increase that to seven. A staff of two nurses should also be increased to seven, he said.

Under the contract the center has with Glades General, the center will continue to provide help when needed to the hospital's delivery staff.

It currently has a staff at the hospital that Diaz said will be maintained as part of the hospital staff until it can be separated.

Other hospitals detrimental

BELLE GLADE - The administrator of one of the two local hospitals says proposed new hospitals in the Wellington area of Palm Beach County could be detrimental to the local hospitals' ability to recruit personnel and remain solvent.

Patrick Lennan, the administrator at Glades General Hospital, said the proposed hospitals would operate on a for-profit basis and could throw taxing district hospitals into insolvency because they wouldn't accept charity and poverty cases.

Lennan said Medicare, charity and county welfare patients would comprise less than one percent of the total caseload at a for profit hospital in the central county area just east of 20 Mile Bend.

About 75 percent of the patients at Glades General are cared for at cost or on a charity basis, he said.

A hospital that didn't take charity cases in the same area as Glades General would deprive the local hospital of many patients who have the ability to pay for their services. The patients help keep the hospital solvent, according to Lennan.

Lennan said other hospitals should also be willing to care for charity patients.

"We understand our obligation to care for the poor and the indigent out here as a tax-supported hospital," said Lennan. "But if we discuss our ability to collect taxes, eventually we won't be solvent. And we aren't solvent, who's going to care for the poor and indigent?"

"I think the other hospitals have to pick up their share of charity and indigent cases."

He said the Hospital Corporation of America and a group of osteopathic physicians are discussing opening two separate hospitals in the vicinity of Wellington, Royal Palm Beach and Loxahatchee.

Lennan said may Glades General employees live in that area and the presence of a hospital over there would also hurt Glades General's ability to recruit qualified help.

"Until the hospitals are willing to accept their share of the poor, the indigent and the legal aliens, I don't think anyone should build a hospital, quite frankly, because all it's gonna do is skim the cream off the top and make the hospitals poorer, the taxpayers poorer, everybody poorer," said Lennan.

Benefit slated

BELLE GLADE -- American Legion Post 20 in Belle Glade is sponsoring a benefit fish fry for Paul Hart, Jr. Sunday, September 4 starting at noon.

Hart, a former long time resident of Belle Glade now residing in Clewiston, was injured June 6 at his home while working on an airboat engine. He has no insurance.

Several benefits have been sponsored by local organizations to raise funds for extensive medical treatment needed by Hart.

He is presently in the Shanes Hospital in Gainesville. According to Kay Phillips, a member of the American Legion and friend of Hart, the hospital is a special trauma one facility.

Phillips said Hart is to undergo more surgery this week to try to save one of his limbs.

She said a special Paul Hart Fund has been established at the Southeast Bank in Belle Glade. Donations of money or merchandise are being accepted.

The entertainment for the fish fry will be provided by the Billy Seider, Glenn Davis, Earl Band, a country Dianne, Herring, and Bazz, Clasy Noland, Jackie McDaniel, Cheryl Stein, Sharri Marchant, Sharon Underwood, Jennilee Threlkeld, Cindy Bazz and Janis Shiver.

Volunteers are needed to help with the fish fry. You can volunteer by calling 996-8444 anytime.

Drug, Alcohol abuse discussed at meeting

BELLE GLADE - The August meeting of the Belle Glade Junior Women's Club was at the home of Sandra McMullen.

A talk was given about drug and alcohol abuse by Jill Schoppell of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department. This was followed by a question-and-answer period.

Several other topics of interest to members were discussed including plans for the annual International Affairs dinner scheduled for September.

Members present at the meeting included the co-hostess, Linda Markham, Vicky McMullen, Diana Seider, Glenn Davis, Earl Band, a country Dianne, Herring, and Bazz, Clasy Noland, Jackie McDaniel, Cheryl Stein, Sharri Marchant, Sharon Underwood, Jennilee Threlkeld, Cindy Bazz and Janis Shiver.

Police

Shots hit bystander

PAHOKEE - A Pahokee man is charged with aggravated battery after he apparently shot an innocent bystander in an attempt to gun down a robber.

James Johnson, 67, of 177 Carver Place in Pahokee told the police that he had picked up his shotgun and shot at a man who had allegedly robbed him.

He missed the fleeing thief, hitting a bystander instead.

Ileste Elisee, 25, of 419 South Lake in Pahokee, was taken to Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee to have the shot removed from his back. He was shot in the left elbow and the upper left arm. He also suffered three wounds in the neck, six in the lower back and one in the upper back.

The incident occurred Friday, August 26 at about 8:30 p.m.

Theo's spoils Glades Ag assault, 7-3

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE—All good things must come to an end and so it is with Glades Ag Service's Cinderella season.

The team that never before finished high enough in the season standings to earn a play-off berth made it all the way to the finals in the B division's post-season tournament this year before getting knocked off by Theo's.

In the city recreational softball league regular season, Glades Ag finished tied for third in the B division alongside Larry's and Everglades Farm Equipment.

That qualified the team for its first spot ever in the post-season tournament. Only the top six teams in the 11-team division earned play-off berths.

Glades Ag downed Everglades Farm in its first tournament game, 6-4, but lost to Theo's 7-2 in its second game.

Battling back through the losers' bracket, it eventually earned a rematch against Theo's after defeating Larry's.

Downing Larry's wasn't easy. The lead changed five times before Glades Ag claimed the 17-15 victory and a chance to play Theo's for the first place trophy.

Larry's jumped ahead in the top of the first inning when it scored three runs on four hits and one Glades Ag error.

Greg Chancey singled to right to lead off the game. He went to third on a single to left by Derek Collins. An error by the left fielder allowed Collins to take second.

Nicki Walden singled in both runners when he tapped a ball into center field.

Two outs later, Johnny Youngblood singled in to center to drive in Walden.

Ag Service came back with three runs of its own on three hits in the bottom of the inning.

Gave Griffin, who had received the division's most valuable player award the previous night, tripled to right field to lead off the inning.

Wayne Meadows grounded out to shortstop and Danny Priest was issued a one-out walk to put runners at the corners.

Randy Worth sent a pitch sailing over the left field fence to tie up the contest at three.

Larry's recaptured the lead in the second inning after scoring one run on two hits.

Barry Johnson tapped a two out double into right center field. He scored when Chancey singled into center.

Glades Ag Service went down in order in the bottom of the inning and it looked like Larry's was going to put the game away when it scored three runs in the third inning.

Billy Sanchez doubled to center with one out and Billy Anderson singled to right to drive him in.

Youngblood then drove in two runs when he put a ball over the center field fence, the second homer in one game in a league not noted for power.

Glades Ag made it a one-run ball game in the bottom of the inning, scoring three runs on five hits and two Larry's errors.

Priest hit a lead-off single down the left field foul line and advanced to third when Randy Worth's single into left center was bobbled.

Ricky Chevalier knocked a double into left to bat in Priest and Worth. He made the score 6-7 when he was driven by a sacrifice fly into right center by James Boyd.

Glades Ag held Larry's to just one hit, a single, in the fourth inning and scored four runs in the bottom of the inning to reclaim the lead.

Wayne Meadows doubled into right field and advanced to third when Priest's grounder to short was booted.

The bases were loaded with a walk to Worth. Chevalier batted in two runners and two others, including Chevalier himself, scored when his singled into right field resulted in a series of errors.

Larry's found itself down 7-10 in the top of the fifth, but closed to within one run when two Larry's players crossed the plate.

Sanchez hit a one-out double into right center field.

One out later, Youngblood hit his second consecutive homer over the left field fence to narrow the gap between the teams.

Glades Ag, smelling victory, came back with three runs on four hits in the bottom of the inning.

Valentine singled to lead off the inning and advanced to second when Manual Phillips singled to left field.

The lead changed again in the top of the sixth inning when Larry's sent 10 batters to the plate and scored six runs.

Chancey doubled with one out into right-center field. Collins singled to drive Chancey to third.

Chancey scored on Walden's single to left and Collins moved all the way around the bases on a series of errors, scoring the team's 11th run.

Walden ended up on second base and he advanced to third when Sanchez was given second on the shortstop's wild throw.

Errors allowed him to score the sixth run of the inning before another batter stepped to the plate.

Glades Ag Service came to bat in the sixth inning down by two - 15-13.

But the perennial losers weren't to be denied their chance at the final trophy.

They scored four runs in the bottom of the inning and held the resulting two-run edge in the seventh to win the game and go the finals.

Chalier reached base on an error by the shortstop. He advanced to second on a single by Terry Agnew and took third when Robert Police popped to second base.

Valentine's single drove in Chevalier and Agnew scored when the catcher dropped a ball thrown in from the outfield.

Back-to-back singles by Griffin and Meadows drove in the tie-breaker and an insurance run scored in the form of Valentine and Manual Phillips.

With two outs in the seventh, Collins singled to left field, but Walden flew out to left to end the game.

In the final game, Theo's put together one of their patented late inning assaults, scoring two in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the sixth, to bring their total to seven.

Glades Ag couldn't muster more than three runs in the championship, two in the first to tie the game and one in the sixth.

Jimmy Hager started the game off for Theo's in the first with a single that bounced off the edge of the infield grass into right field.

He was forced out at second when Dewey Martin grounded to the shortstop.

Timmy Martin singled into left to put runners at first and second and Robert Ellis was issued a two-out base-on-balls to load the bases.

Daved Pelham singled into right field to drive in Dewey Martin and Timmy Martin.

Glades Ag tied it up in the bottom of the inning with two runs on two hits.

Wayne Meadows singled into center with one out. He scored when Danny Priest tripled down the left field line and Priest was driven in when Randy Worth sacrificed to left field.

Neither team could muster a run through the next two innings, but Theo's broke the deadlock in the fourth inning when it scored two runs on three hits.

Jorge Torres reached first with one out when his grounder was bobbled by the shortstop. He advanced to third when Scott Parris' base hit in to left resulted in an error by the left fielder.

David Abner drove in Torres when he grounded to the pitcher.

Alan Parham singled into left field to drive in what would be the winning run in the form of Parris.

While Glades Ag Service had trouble moving runners around the bases through the four middle innings, Theo's hit its stride and built a healthy lead.

Theo's scored a run in the fifth inning when Pete Sanchez singled with one out. He advanced to second on a single to left by Ellis and took third on a right field single by David Pelham.

Torres sacrificed to left field to drive in Sanchez.

Theo's sixth and seventh runs crossed the plate in the sixth inning. Alan Parham, Hager and Dewey Martin knocked back-to-back singles to left.

Timmy Martin popped to left center field to drive in Hager and Parham.

Glades Ag Service added a run to its score in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Priest reached first on an error by the shortstop. Worth was walked to put runners at first and second and both runners moved to scoring

Players of the week MVP honors bestowed

Two players who made special contributions to their teams this week were honored with individual trophies last week at Airport Park as the 1983 softball season wound down.

In the A division, Doug Roberson, Okeelanta's left fielder, was given both of the individual trophies presented in the division.

Roberson took the home run trophy after belting 19 round trippers through the season. His .702 batting average also earned him the batting average trophy.

In the B division, two Glades Ag Service players were recognized, one for his batting abilities and one for the example he set on the field.

Danny Priest took the batting average trophy with a .606 average, but a team mate was given the division's most valuable player trophy, an award given in lieu of a home run trophy in the power-lacking division.

Dave Griffin, the team's catcher and utility outfielder, was in League Director Mike Underwood's words, the most valuable player "to both the A and the B leagues."

"He came out there to play and he came out there to have fun," continued Underwood. "He helped take a last place team to the finals. Whether he won or lost, he enjoyed himself and other people enjoyed being around him."

Glades Ag finished tied for third in the league's regular season, the first time the team ever qualified for the post-season tournament. In the tournament, the team went all the way to the finals before losing the title to Theo's.

Team heads to nationals tourney

The players that play softball for Mace Sod inspire intensely mixed emotions. Their families and other fans, for obvious reasons, love them.

Members of other teams and their fans despise them. But whether you like them, hate them or just feel indifferent toward them, you have to admit they can play softball and play it well.

As evidenced by the team's invitation to play in the United States Slowpitch Softball Association national tournament in Petersburg, Virginia this coming weekend.

Mace Sod will become the first Glades-based softball team to play in a national tournament when it plays in the USSSA tournament.

Many of the players on the Okeelanta ball team that plays in the local city league have played for V.M. Nutri, the 1982 class B national champions, but the team that won that title is based in West Palm Beach.

This isn't the first time Mace Sod has traveled to tournaments to contend for major prizes, although this is probably the biggest prize the team's gone after.

Mace has played trophy's at the state level from the Florida Recreation Softball Association and the Amateur Softball Association.

It's also played throughout the state in quest of other trophies.

Mace Sod is paying for the trip up to the national tournament with the proceeds it collected in a softball tournament it sponsored last weekend.

Thirteen teams entered the tournament, which carried a $75 entry fee.

Taylor's Construction won the double elimination tournament with a 4-0 record. Theo's was second with a 5-2 record and Glades Tire third with a 4-2 record.

Take stock in America.

Local anglers win cash prizes

Two Belle Glade anglers are a little bit richer due to their fishing exploits last weekend.

Jack Rice of Belle Glade not only collected $1,300 for his 25 pound, 13 ounce stringer in the Bill Branch Fishing Tournament, he also collected $500 for a 10 pound lunker he reeled in, the biggest catch of the tournament.

Another local resident, H.K. McIntosh of Pahokee, won $800 for his 20 pound, one ounce catch. 100 anglers took part in Bill Branch Chevrolet's third open bass tournament of the year: Sun-Cornick of Sarasota - 10th with 15-2. Twenty-three fishermen caught their limit of seven fish and Marvin Jackson of Fort Myers paced the field with 28 pounds, 6 ounces of bass and took home a check for $4,200. Larry Douglas, tournament director, said.

Rounding out the top 10, all of whom took home prize money, were Chuck McNeese with 15-15, Drew Gregg of Miami Springs - 7th with 15-10, Dan Boles of Cape Coral and Steve Lloyd of Naples tied for 8th with 15-5, and Bill Mcment of the year: Sun-Cornick of Sarasota - 10th with 15-2. Twenty-three fishermen caught their limit of seven fish and 18 fish weighing over six pounds were hosted by the Lake Trafford Marina in Loxley, Ala. Sept. 25.

The next Bill Branch Tournament will be a guaranteed minimum prize of $2,000. Entry fee is $100, payable to Bill Branch Chevrolet.

position when Chevalier filed to left center.

Agnew singled to center field to drive in Priest and end Glades Ag's tour inning dry spell.

But that was the end of the game as far as the score board was concerned.

Ellis hit a lead-off single in the top of the seventh but he was left stranded at second as the next three batters flew out.

In the bottom of the inning, Glades Ag's Valentine grounded to short for the first out.

Manuel Phillips popped to second.

Frank Phillips singled to left field, but he was left when Dave Griffin popped to right center for the final out of the B division season.

Theo's walked off the field with the B division tournament crown.

In the A division, Okeelanta won the post-season tournament after going the distance with Mace Sod. Mace Sod came back through the losers' bracket and forced the power-laden Okeelanta team to a final game after winning the first do-or-die game 14-6.

Okeelanta wasn't going to be embarrassed though. It came back with a 15-3 victory to claim the trophy.

makes you a criminal!

And criminals do get caught! Now the stores are wise to shoplifters, and have the manpower and sophisticated equipment to prove it. Closed circuit cameras, undercover people, specially needed tagging systems... are all used to successfully catch shoplifters. And the stores are taking legal actions! Shoplifters face even stiffer fines... even jail when they're caught... plus the humiliation of getting arrested, and a criminal record that could affect future schooling, jobs, credit rating, and the respect and trust of family and friends. Shoplifting... like any other crime... just doesn't pay!

Committee to review subdivision traffic

BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade city commissioners are concerned that motorists driving through Sugar subdivision could threaten the safety of children going to and from school, so they have established a committee to review the situation and look for solutions.

Commissioner William A. Grear said the problem stems from automobile drivers turning off of state road 715 into the residential development in an attempt to avoid the traffic light at the junction of 715 and Southwest Avenue E.

The automobile drivers pass through the subdivision and turn onto Southwest 10th Street, which takes them over a drainage ditch and up to Southwest Avenue E. The Southwest 10th Street bridge is the only means of crossing the drainage ditch once the motorists leave 715.

The street takes the automobiles by Gladeview Elementary School. "And they don't come down there slow, either," said Grear. "They're speeding."

He said he had talked with crossing guards and had been told of several incidents that almost resulted in accidents involving children and motorists.

Grear suggested the problem and potential danger to school children could be eliminated by a second bridge over the ditch.

Commissioner Charles Goodlett said the only other location ever considered for a second bridge was Southwest Eighth Street and that was rejected because motorists would have to make a complicated series of turns coming off the bridge.

Several residents in the area also resisted the proposal.

Grear suggested the city look at roads west of the present bridge.

The committee appointed to review the situation consists of Grear, Goodlett, City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang and Police Chief D. Bill Mathis.

Body builders flex muscles in MD benefit

BELLE GLADE - A threat of rain and even a short sprinkle failed to put a damper on the third annual Muscles Against Muscular Dystrophy competition at Glades Correctional Institute Sunday, August 28.

GCI inmate Al Green won the Mr. Prison Ironman title for 1983 after beating fellow GCI inmate Barlington Blye in a pose-off.

Green had also won the lightweight division of the ironman competition while Blye had taken the heavyweight title.

The Ms Golden Glades and Mr. Golden Glades titles were also decided at the competition.

Charles Niessen, entered in the lightweight division, won the overall Mr. Golden Glades title. He edged Bill Ehman for the lightweight title and beat Bob Longbottom, the heavyweight title winner, in the final.

Four women vied for the Ms Golden Glades trophy. Denise Clark of Vero Beach won the middleweight and overall titles.

The event raised about $500 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The weather, a factor in the previous two years at the event, proved just

In the heavyweight division, Lognbottom flexed his muscles over Robert Schoenthal and Elvis Kirtan.

In the Ms Golden Glades competition, Denise Clark was the only entrant in the middleweight division. She won the overall title after a pose-off with lightweight division winner Lisa Szymanski.

Szymanski competed against two others in the lightweight division. Five inmates from these three institutes were entered in the heavyweight competition.

Eleven inmates from GCI, Hendry Correctional Institute and Dade Correctional Institute were entered in the lightweight division. Five inmates from these three institutes were entered in the heavyweight competition.

Green, who won the lightweight title and went on to earn the overall title, was followed by DCI inmate Joe Williams and GCI inmate James Roper.

Other contestants in the lightweight division included Lee Jackson, Lawrence Jones, John Brown, Lewis Murray and Charles Brown from GCI, Richard Kondian and Ronald Robinson from DCI and Michael Burse from HCI.

In the heavyweight division, Joe Lomba from GCI placed second while William Kuhn from DCI was third. There were two other contestants from HCI in the division: Robert Lewis and Sammy Clark.

There were also several guest posers who performed for the crowd.

Last year's Ms Golden Glades, Marilyn Hrick, performed as did the 1983 Mr. Sunshine State, Tim Beattie.

THE GLADES CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTE JAYCEES raised about $500 for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy when it sponsored its third annual Muscles Against Muscular Dystrophy competition Sunday, August 28. Men and women competed in the event and several guests posed for the audience of prison inmates and outside ticket purchasers. $25 million goes to Rivers program

The South Florida Water Management District's "Save Our Rivers" program got a $25 million shot in the arm Thursday.

District Executive Director Jack Maloy and Governing Board Chairman Bob Clark signed agreements closing the sale of $25 million in revenue anticipation notes Thursday at a meeting in New York. These funds are now available to purchase lands necessary to protect South Florida's freshwater resources. Land along the Kissimmee River, in the Water Conservation Areas and near Everglades National Park are among the parcels slated for purchase in the "Save Our Rivers" program.

Through the program, established in 1981, the district receives a portion of the documentary stamp taxes paid on all real estate transactions within its 16-county jurisdiction. When the program was initiated, district revenues from this source were projected to be $110 million over a 10-year period. However, with the recent slump in the real estate market, the amount of revenue generated on an annual basis has been less than expected. In the meantime, thought, land prices continue to climb.

In order to make these vital land purchases now, rather than waiting until later when land prices will undoubtedly be higher and some of the land may be developed and therefore unavailable for purchase, the district initiated the innovative bonding.

Anticipated revenues from the documentary stamp tax, coupled with district matching funds, will be used to repay the $25 million in revenue anticipation notes. These notes have been purchased by Prudential-Bache, for sale on the market. The issue has already been fully purchased.

"With this $25 million now in hand, we can go ahead and make purchases now at reduced prices," Maloy said. "Because land prices will be cheaper now than in the future, we're saving our taxpayers money and moving forward to protect our water resources at the same time."

Check landscaping after a hurricane

By ROBERT J. BLACK
IFAS Extension
Horticulturist

We have been spared the fury of hurricane strength winds for a number of years. However, the 1993 hurricane season is well underway, and now is a good time to take steps to reduce the likelihood of damage to your landscape should one of these storms pass through your area.

Begin by inspecting trees for broken, damaged or dead limbs. If these are present, have them removed as soon as possible. Hurricane winds can cause these to be dislodged from the tree. Falling limbs can cause considerable damage to cars, house roofs, windows or other objects they strike. It may be necessary to reduce the size of overgrown, neglected trees. This will require severe surgery and the tree will probably be ugly for a few months whether or not the storm hits. Gardeners who have kept their trees thinned and with a canopy in proportion to the trunk will have only a minor pruning operation.

If you have coconut palms, preparing for storms includes harvesting all nuts that are of any size. Coconuts and most other large palms should have dead leaves removed. The nuts and leaves can act as missiles if the wind catches them right. Do not, however, cut off all leaves except the central upright tuft since this removes the protection for the bud. Last minute prunings can also blow around dangerously and should be disposed of for safety.

Gutters should be cleaned of leaves, twigs, and other debris to allow for free passage of water. As you know, heavy rains accompany a hurricane and drainage should be at its best during these storms.

Tropical potted plants, tub specimens, hanging baskets and other outside movable plants should be brought indoors. Less than hurricane force winds can strip the leaves from these plants, topple them over, or cause breakage of branches and stems and completely destroy them.

Lawn and patio furniture and accessories should also receive attention. Make plans to have storage room available so they can be brought inside during strong winds. Also, do not forget garbage can and trash containers as these can become dangerous flying objects in hurricane winds. While we hope there will be no hurricanes hitting Florida this year, it is better to be prepared for them. Check your landscape today and take the precautionary measures mentioned.

Wilderness Camp leaders named

Two South Florida executives, Mary Therese Delate of Coconut Grove, a stockbroker with Dean Witter Reynolds, and Karel Foti of Hialeah, a manufacturer's representative, have been named chairpersons for the South Florida Wilderness Camp Committee, a committee organized to raise funds to build a camp for emotionally disturbed youngsters in the southern half of the state.

The camp would be part of the Jack and Ruth Eckerd Wilderness Camp System, which already operates camps for the young-sters in 11 locations in four states, including Florida. The South Florida committee has targeted a fund-raising effort in order to get the first Wilderness Camp a permanent site convenient to the population centers of South Florida.

The Eckerd Foundation is currently in negotiations for a site in Hendry County which would be within a 90-minute drive of Miami, Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach.

Because youngsters who live in the Wilderness camps go home every six weeks, the location becomes extremely important, according to Dan Schooler, executive director of the foundation.

Delate and Foti said the South Florida committee would look into means of fund-raising in order to get sufficient finances to aid in the purchase of the site and the building of the camp facilities.

"We also hope to have members on the board from Hendry, Monroe, Lee, and Collier counties, as well as Dade, Broward and Miami-Dade," said Chairperson Foti. "Our committee is still in formation and we are looking for volunteers."

S. H. Stalls accepts position with Sunshine Printing

Former Clewiston News, Glades County Democrat, and Belle Glade Herald publisher S. H. "Sonny" Stalls, 55, has accepted the position of general manager of Sunshine Printing, a division of Independent Newspapers, Inc. in Lake Placid.

Independent Newspapers currently prints newspapers from Arcadia, Frostproof, Okeechobee, and North Fort.

Stalls went to work for Independent Newspapers Sept. 6.

In making his decision to relocate to Lake Placid, Stalls will be selling Stalls Printing and Office Supplies to Dave Lyons, effective Friday, Aug. 26.

Lyons, a former resident of Clewiston, currently resides in LaBelle, where he publishes the weekly Caloosa Belle and manages a commercial printing plant.

Stalls Printing will continue to be operated in the same location with the same staff of employees.

"I am excited by this job opportunity. While we hate to leave Clewiston and our many friends here, our family is up there," Stalls said Tuesday.

"Three or four years ago we decided that when we retired Lake Placid would be the place," he said.

Stalls went to work as printer's devil for the Glades County Democrat at age 12. Though he would leave the area briefly to work at others newspapers, most of his time was spent in the Glades.

While working for the Democrat, he swept the floor, learned the rudiments of the printing business, and even wrote sports. On one occasion former publisher Beryl Bowden got him out of school to help finish getting the paper out after the regular linetype operator had laid out

A Moore Haven native, he went into the Merchant Marine for two years after graduating from Moore Haven High School in 1945.

After leaving the Merchant Marine, he attended the University of Florida two years, and upon returning to the Glades, assisted in the move of the newspaper printing plant from Moore Haven to Clewiston in the late 1940s.

In 1950 he married Lake Placid native Betty Cannon. Their courtship began after she complained about his officiating of a girls basketball game in which she was playing.

They have two married daughters, Donna Hogan and Kathy Wilcox.

After a short stint with the Anna Maria Islander in 1950, he returned to The Clewiston News before enlisting in the Air Force in 1952 for four years.

It was in the Air Force, working at a printing plant in Waco, Texas, that Stalls had his first exposure to offset printing. His experience prior to that time had been with "hot type," using plates shaped from melted lead.

Following his discharge, he worked for the Brice family with the Lake Wales weekly for two years and then sold advertising for the Sebring News for 1½ years before returning to Clewiston in 1960.

He won election to a four-year term on the Clewiston City Commission that year, beginning a long list of community service.

He since served as director for the Hendry County Fair and Livestock Association, director for the Clewiston Chamber of Commerce, president of the Kiwanis Club, and as a member of the Lions Club, the Rotary Club, and the First United Methodist Church. He currently serves as a member of the Clewiston Airport Authority.

In 1973 he served as president of the Florida Press Association and has been honored by the Jaycees as their citizen of the year.

In 1968, Thomson Newspapers sold the local chain of weeklies to Lawson Braswell of Hendersville, N. C., and Montlake Media was born. Stalls shortly thereafter took over as publisher of the company and part owner.

He stayed on with the company until 1980, two years after Hammell Newspapers acquired the property, before going into business for himself as owner of Stalls Printing.

4-wheelers challenge Mean Mudder Course

Four-wheel drive enthusiasts splattered their way through some of the blackest, stickiest mud in Florida Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Clewiston Mean Mudder Off-Road Track.

Seventy-six contestants in jeeps and pickups took turns trying to charge through 300 feet of waist-deep mud and water.

Most of them came up short; some vehicles drowning out in a cloud of exhaust fumes and flying mud clouds within a few feet of the water's edge.

But Steve Calinto of North Fort Myers churned through the morass in 34 seconds to emerge as the day's champion mudder.

"The participants were fantastic," said Mean Mudder Pres. Bernie Horne.

Drivers were also given a shot at the 1300 foot obstacle course, which though free of mud had plenty of other challenges. At least one vehicle went airborne after hitting a bump too hard and another driver was dismayed to see his wheel go in one direction while the remainder of his vehicle went in another.

Tom Koenes' 1:28 on the obstacle course was the fastest of the day.

Sunday's mud run drew a large crowd, who, at $5 a head, helped the Mean Mudder's scholarship program and track building fund.

Clewiston Kiwanis Club members operated the food concession at the track and cleared over $300 for Kiwanis projects.

Sunday's mud run was the third event to be held at the new track. The next event is a combination country music festival, featuring six bands, and truck pull and mud run Oct. 15-16.

'The participants were fantastic.' —Mean Mudder President Bernie Horne

Apple offers latest in technology

Apples are not just for "Teachers" anymore. Although teachers are receiving more of them each year, they are also showing up more so in executive offices, in retail stores, small business, professional offices and the dens and studies of many American families. They seem to spring up most anywhere, doing most anything. PC's or Personal Computers have gone legit.

So says Greg Esser, president of Computer Teletronics, Inc., Clewiston's first Computer Store. "We are open for business and learning how to walk before we run, and we don't plan a Grand Opening till later in the Fall," he added.

tors, hard disc storage devices, and all of the related supplies necessary to cover their customers' requirements.

In addition to the Apple line, other systems in the market are better to cover the wide spectrum of the market, ranging from point of sale inventory control to larger business accounting and professional office management systems.

When asked how he was introduced to the world of microcomputing, he stated, "About six years ago, I was sold a bill of goods by a Ft. Myers cash register sales company and the result was that I was locked into a five year commitment on three so called computer cash registers in tions industry, radio, television, microwave and electronics before entering the retail field. "It's in my blood and it's satisfying being back in the high technology industry."

In conclusion, Mr. Esser offered some friendly advice to the uninitiated, "Don't be intimidated by this sophisticated desktop device called a 'Personal Computer'."

'It will do your bidding, perform chores for you, at your command, provided you take a little time to learn the rules.'

—Greg Esser

Computer Teletronics, Inc. was approved last spring as a Full Service Support Authorized Dealer for Apple Computer products by the Cupertino, Ca. company after meeting the exhaustive and stringent requirements set by Apple for its growing dealer network. Apple Computer, one of the most notoriously successful microcomputer firms in the industry, just recently announced another giant gain in sales revenue and profits, in spite of heavier competition.

Clewiston's newest Computer Store is located in the old City Hall building, across from Hagley Chevrolet, on Comercio Street, and through a lease arrangement with the City of Clewiston, has been transformed from a 40 year old ugly duckling into a presentable addition to the uptown retail neighborhood.

Mr. Esser states that Computer Teletronics will carry the Apple IIe and the Apple III Personal Computers along with a full complement of software programs, plug-in peripheral hardware, printers, telephone modems, monimy retail business. These registers were supposed to tell me all about my business and improve operations. What I received turned out to be a bill of 2 inch wide paper and severe eye strain. No daily report sheets or ability to sort and search through all of the data in order to make wise decisions on running my business. I just knew there had to be a better way for a lot less money. This was back in 1978."

"After searching the primitive microcomputer market for many months I decided on Apple and had a full Apple system installed in my den and from there on it was a constantly increasing exposure to the wonderful world of microcomputing, both for myself and my family. When you find your pre-teens fighting over who is next on the Apple Computer, you sense a new revolution and challenge in the making. The boob tube becomes less and less important."

No stranger to the field of electronics, Mr. Esser spent 22 years in the telecommunications and leisurely get acquainted with the basic use of a personal computer. Adequate inventory is being built up and we are now in the position to install a system in the customer's business or home the same day or next day basis. Apple has just recently added more production lines to meet the tremendous demands of the new Apple IIe introduced last January and supplies should be ample in the near future."

Our hours will probably be late morning to early evening, to permit customers to visit during the noon hour or after work and by appointment, after hours, in special cases.

Grand Opening will come later in the year, after we become more organized and experienced. Product availability should improve during the coming weeks and we look forward to fulfilling our customers' requirements. Later, as our installed system base is built up, we will be conducting specialized training for the more popular programs in our classroom. As a Full Service Apple Dealer, we are here to serve and intend to do so.

"With the Apple operating system, there exists at least 20,000 different programs of software covering every possible field of endeavor and hundreds more coming to the market each month," Mr. Esser continued. "With pre-teens and the young and eager, the personal computer will teach one sure thing - Be accurate in reading instructions and follow them to the letter or progress stops abruptly until the rules are followed. An added benefit, one suddenly becomes a able typist."

Computer Teletronics is presently augmenting their operating staff, attending Apple Training Seminars and easing into full time operation.

"We will be open daily from now on and invite the public to visit, sit down with an Apple

OIL OR CHEMICAL DRUMS used as garbage receptacles, such as the one above, are causing city sanitation personnel problems in their collection routes, according to a sanitation official. He said the drums are too heavy to lift, don't have handles and sometimes contain dangerous chemical residues. He asked that residents use only regular garbage cans.

The difference in garbage, trash explained by city

BELLE GLADE - City sanitation department employees want to educate the public on the difference between trash and garbage in an effort to make refuse collection easier and more efficient.

Larry Thompson, the supervisor of sanitation services for Belle Glade, said it appears that many residents are unaware of the difference between trash and garbage and also don't use the appropriate receptacles for disposal.

Trash is defined in city ordinances as vegetable refuse, old appliances, tires and things of that nature. Garbage is defined as leftover food, boxes, soap containers and empty containers such as cans, jars and boxes.

Thompson said many sanitation department employees come across piles of trash mixed with garbage. Garbage should be disposed of in 25 gallon garbage cans with handles for lifting. Trash should be disposed of in plastic bags when possible and placed at the edge of the property line. If the trash cannot be placed in plastic garbage bags, it should be placed in a pile at the edge of the property.

Thompson said appliances such as refrigerators should be placed face-down on the ground to prevent children from playing in them and becoming trapped. The city will make a special trip to pick those items if called, he added.

Some people are using chemical or oil barrels instead of 25 gallon garbage cans. Thompson said those barrels cannot be lifted because they are too heavy and they also have no handles. He said residents should use the appropriate trash or garbage receptacle if they expect the city to collect their refuse.
